

ALLIES WON'T QUIT, SAYS O. T. BANNARD; A YEAR OF WAR YET

England Still Going Slowly—
France Near End of Resources.

O. T. Bannard, President of the New York Trust Company, who went to London July 17 to represent the bondholders of the International Mercantile Marine, returned to this city on the St. Paul, arriving to-day. He said he had made thorough inquiries of well informed men in Great Britain and France regarding the duration of the war and the spirit of the nations involved.

"First of all," he said, "the allies will not quit. There is not the slightest wavering among them. Germany has shown so far apparently lack of resourcefulness. The most optimistic opinion as to the duration of the war is that it will last at least until the end of next year—and that was optimistic in the extreme."

"England is very slow to get going. She has not yet reached her full strength. Her laboring men are slow to enlist. This is due to their class system; the nation is not a unit. Well-to-do men and farmers are now doing most of the fighting. Then men of the working class seem to figure: 'Whether it is King or Kaiser I will still get my union wages.'"

"The entire French nation is in arms. They have about reached the limit of their resources. I found in France a decided feeling that the United States lack backbone. They think we are spineless because we did not break with Germany on the Lusitania incident and our action after that feeling. 'How long will the United States stand it?' was a question I was constantly asked."

"To be sure, they have now promised to safeguard American lives by giving a warning. But in France they will still ask: Does that satisfy you? What does the word 'warning' mean? Five minutes, ten minutes to take to boats in the open sea? What are you going to do if American lives are lost in spite of a warning?"

"England is grateful to us for our assistance, but is sarcastically conscious that she is paying very well indeed for it."

"As to finances, it is clear that we have more gold than we need in this country. Certainly we should not hoard it. Great Britain's method of righting herself in the present difficulty is to place a big loan here so that international balances can be restored. Two years from now the United States will suffer with the rest of the world through the destruction of capital."

"In two years there will be a universal cataclysm which will strike this nation as badly as it strikes Europe. Our great national enterprises, such as our continental railroads, were developed through foreign capital. We are a great people, but we cannot stand alone. We must brace ourselves against the coming shock."

Charles G. Loring and his bride, who was Miss Katharine Page, daughter of the American Ambassador to Great Britain, and was recently married in London, were also passengers on the St. Paul.

WOMAN WAS DESPERATE WITH STOMACH TROUBLE

Gives Up Hope of Health After Long Struggle and Treatment, But Wins at Last.

Miss Sadie Haggood of 27 Thompson street, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., suffered serious troubles with her stomach. She "doctored" continually. Physicians did not even give her relief. She gave up hope of health—and then took May's Wonderful Remedy. The first dose proved to her that she had at last found a way back to health. She wrote: "May's Wonderful Remedy has certainly done wonders for me. It is worth its weight in gold. I feel like a new person. It is worth being praised to every one you meet who suffers from stomach trouble. Just before reading of your wonderful remedy, I had given up hope of ever being cured, for I was doctoring all the time and still getting worse. Too much cannot be said of your wonder remedy. May's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your drugstore and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.—Advt."

Helps for a Delightful Holiday

We Strive

at all times to make shopping in this store convenient and comfortable.

Escalators afford easy access to the six merchandising floors. Always in operation during business hours, they are used by thousands of customers in preference to the elevators for going from floor to floor.

A splendidly appointed rest-room instead of costly entertainments is provided for the comfort of our women patrons.

Every floor has a competent and courteous staff, whose activities are prompted by a desire to serve. These men are trained to do things in the right way.

Customers are invited to make liberal use of the services of the floor walkers and superintendents. It will help to make purchasing a quicker and easier matter.

Common-sense service minus frills is the aim and accomplishment of Macy's. Nothing that adds a cent to the cost of merchandise—but everything to make shopping a comfort and a pleasure.

FLAGS!

Patriotism is in the air and Labor Day is sure to be as much a "Day of Flags" as the Glorious Fourth itself.

Now is the time to change that old, faded banner for a new flag with colors bright—especially when prices are as attractively low as these:

Blanket Prices Lowest at Macy's

The unusual demand this year for blankets by European buyers has sent prices soaring. Our buyer foresaw what would happen, and bought in large quantities before the advance. And Macy cash not only helped to close the deal, but contributed to bring prices down as low as these:

Fancy Plaid Blankets, very soft and warm. Several color combinations. Size 60x70 in., $1.29 pr.
Wool Plaid Blankets, heavy weight. Good assortment of colors. Full bed size, $4.96 pr.
White Wool-finish Blankets, fancy stitched edges. Pink and blue striped borders. Medium weight. 99c pr.
Gray Wool-finish Blankets, medium weight. Pink or blue striped borders. Neatly bound; full bed size, $1.69 pr.
Eastern Wool Blankets—medium weight. Very soft finish, closely woven and fine in texture. Pink and blue striped borders. Size 58x78 in., $2.19 pr. Size 70x80 in., $2.79 pr.

New "Composée" Frocks for Misses and Young Women

In 14, 16 and 18 year sizes

A combination frock of navy blue serge and taffeta is even prettier than it is pictured. The panel and skirt bands are of the serge—also the "suspender" straps which lengthen in the back to form a unique fringed sash. The wide collar is of white crepe de chine. The price is a surprise—only $15.74

A quaint, high-waisted Empire frock of navy taffeta, combined with navy serge, has sleeves and tucked vestee of navy Georgette crepe. There are touches of silver embroidery on the turn-down collar and the little waistcoat, which just peeps below the waistline. Round patch pockets add the final smart touch. $19.74

A Redingote frock of navy serge has underskirt and sleeves of black satin. The rolling collar of beaver fur contrasts charmingly with the vestee of white Georgette crepe. Overskirt and sleeves are bordered with beaver. Silver filigree buttons. $24.74

Princess and Redingote Dresses for Women

The woman who all summer long rebelled against the short-skirted, flaring "little girl" fashions will be delighted with the graceful long lines of the new Redingote and Princess frocks. For there is to be no more "fitting of square pegs into round holes"—the edict has gone forth that there shall be fashions adapted to varying figures.

Especially lovely is the Princess frock of satin charmeuse illustrated, which depends mainly upon grace of line for its stunning effect, being trimmed simply with fine silk braid, and a coquettish silk tassel at the belt. The sleeves and hems are of Georgette crepe. This comes in brown, gray, navy or black. $27.75.

An afternoon dress of Georgette crepe, combined with satin charmeuse, has the wide girde, bodice and sleeve bands elaborately embroidered in the fashionable new "darned" stitch. The vestee is of white Georgette crepe, outlined with silver embroidery. Colors: green and navy. $19.74.

Fashion's Latest Novelty The Circular Veil

Priced from $1.19 to $1.49

Cleverly fashioned from two semi-circles, joined together, except at the centre, which is left open to slip over the hat crown. Thus adjusted, the veil flares all around in the prettiest fashion, and can easily be thrown back without removing. It may be had here in a variety of fillet and octagon meshes, with chenille and velvet dotted borders—some daintily scalloped. Colors: brown, navy, or taupe. Also in black.

A New Flowing Veil at 69c

One-and-a-quarter yards long. Plain mesh with floral border. In black, taupe, brown or navy.

A "Thoroughbred" Among Suits for Women

$29.75

The Southern woman, with her love of grace in dress, the wide-awake stranger from the breezy West, who must be "shown," and the born-and-bred New Yorker, quite at home in choosing from a multitude of offerings—will, one and all, find this suit well worth a trip to Macy's to inspect.

For it is every inch a "thoroughbred"—refined and aristocratic in line, with clean-cut tailoring to which even the most critical of women could take no exception.

In style it is semi-Norfolk, built of very fine mannish tropical worsted, in light or dark gray, with matching bone buttons, and black silk velvet cuffs and collar. The latter lies flat or buttons straight up to the chin, with velvet turnover.

The skirt is a conservatively flaring model, with half belt, slit pockets, and wide box pleats at the sides, stitched to flare below the knee.

The coat is silk lined and interlined, yet the material is so fine and light in weight that the suit may be put into immediate service.

The Price is a Genuine Surprise.

Misses' Suits and Coats—Fur Trimmed

Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years

BEAVER fur—newly revived this season—and tremendously smart—is used for the rolling collar and deep cuffs of a misses' navy blue broadcloth suit. The straight box coat is silk lined and interlined. A silk-fringed sash of the material ties at front of skirt. This suit comes also in green and brown. $24.74.

Light in weight and ideal for immediate wear is the knit coat illustrated, which comes in heather brown, tan, Copenhagen green, with large collar of beaver fur. $17.74.

A broadcloth suit with belted Russian coat has convertible collar and cuffs edged with skunk-oppoosum fur. Coat is silk lined and interlined and hand-somely trimmed with velvet panels and narrow silk Hercules braid. Colors: green, brown and navy. $33.75.

The Last Word and Final Low Prices on 300 Men's and Young Men's Suits

$9.75 $12.50

Macy's Usual Prices $14.75 to $19.75
Not every size in every style, but your fit in one of many styles here for your choice. It would be hard to mention colors or describe styles when there are so many broken lots, but it is quite enough to say that they are suits from regular Macy stock with a third to a half clipped off the price.

Many of these suits may be worn until late Fall—and at this price it's worth while to "lay in" a suit or two for next season.
